Mom was a "it is what it is" kind of person. The day I told her that I was pregnant, at 17, she cried for maybe a few minutes and then told me I had to tell my Daddy! Then she got a pen and paper and started making a list of the things "her grandchild" would need! She never put me down or questioned what I was going to do. She made it known right from the first minute that she loved me and my child and would do all she could for us. And she did! She helped me through alot of scary times as a first time mother. Then later, when he was older and hurting my heart, she told me that your children could break your heart easier and like no one else can. I know over the years her heart broke for me but she always had my back and turned it into a this is life kind of situation. She was definately a "Bloom where your planted" kind of person. And not just with me, for so many of my brothers and friends. She opened her heart and home to anyone who needed it. I am adding more to this page because with this pain that I have for Mom going home, I also have such an amazement thinking back over my life with Mom. She was everything I could have asked for in a Mom and friend. I want to put it on this page to share these things with you all. One time I told my Mom that I didn't think I could do some of the things my doctors were wanting to do. At that point, my options had run out, and it was have this procedure or die. But it was a life altering procedure and I was scared and mad. Mom told me that I have no choice, She said you are a Mom and you must do whatever the doctors tell you to do so that you can be there for those kids. Quit thinking about yourself, think of those kids and how much they need you. She told me that I lost my right to be selfish the minute I became a Mom! She was right! And with having her as an example of that truth all growing up, it made it easy. You see, my Mom thought that I was crazy for even debating this because I was a Mom. When Mom told me of the cancer, I turned her words on her and told her that she had to do whatever the doctors said would make her live! She said that she would do everything she could to not leave me. And she did. But there just wasn't much they could do. Mom fought right up until the end, and she loved right up until the end. She made sure that we all knew that she loved us. She was amazing and I was so blessed to have her in my life. Thanks for letting me share this with you!

Mrs. Hall was an awesome mother-in-law, great w/ her grandkids, and to only have her get mad at me one time in 24 years is pretty amazing. She showed love to all that knew her, and no matter what was going on around her was the most content Lady I know. I will miss her heart and her smile, plus I could pick at and joke w/ her about any matter or subject and again never took it to heart. A wonderful mother, wife, grandmother and of course mother-in-law. I know one day I will see her smile and hear her funny sayings again, and we can just pick some more. Miss you, love you and thank you for always believing in me. Darryl

I don't know where to start. I can't believe Mary is gone. I am so thankful that I was able to spend some time with her a couple weekends ago. I keep reaching for the phone to call her, and catch myself. I don't know what I'm going to do without her!! Mary was my second Mom and I thank you all for accepting me into your family. Please know that you all are in my thoughts and prayers. I know she is in a better place and is no longer in pain. I find strength in the fact that I will see her again some day, and peace in my memories of the time we shared. With never ending love, Diane Wood

Mary Hall has a very special place in my heart! Mary was a very big part of my life growing up, whether she had ever realized it or not. I looked up to her! I adored her! I loved her dearly! Herself, her husband and their family. I called her "Mom" and still do. I don't take the name, "Mom", lightly, and never did. I really felt as if she honestly loved and cared for me! That's one of the things I loved most about her. She opened her heart to so many!Most of us, are lucky, to have 2 parents that love us, watch over us and protect us through the difficult times this life can lead us into and I feel extremely lucky to have 2 additional people do this for me! Even though we've strayed apart in different paths for awhile, as life oftens does, the gratitude will always be there! I think she knew that my love for her was there, and has been there, all along!! feel honored to have been a part of her family. I love you all!! love you "Mom". I will never forget you, and the memories we have shared together! It's time to rest now, Mom...one day we will be together again!!!! XOXOXOXOBecky (Garrett) Young

I have so many wonderful memories of Mom. I had a wonderful mom as a child and a best friend as an adult. She was my go to person! The one I went to for everything! To just talk, gossip, cry to, yell, get advice, laugh with, whatever I needed! My Mom never let me down! She would have my back no matter what, yet would call me on my BS when needed. My Mom was my source of strength, She always thought I could do anything. She was my comfort, Just a smile could soothe whatever was hurting me. I still can't quite wrap my mind around the fact that she is gone. My hero and my best friend what will I do with out you? Thank you Mom for blessing me with your love and support my entire life. I never doubted your love and I pray that you never doubted mine! My heart hurts with missing you already! I love you Mom!
