i remember when we were younger you'd always ruin the moment with an awkward comment and nick would always call you out. i remember when we would double date on the bus and we would call ourselves the fantastic4. we would have the best time walking around the neighborhood just talking; just you and me. we would circle the place a couple times because you were so worried about crossing the street since your mom FORBID you haha and you, like the good kid you always were, would obey her. you always bought a smile to my face. there's just so many memories i can't cover but these are just a couple. i miss all of that. i miss you the most. i still wish we could've made more memories. but for now, this is what i reminisce on. you're always on my mind.

the day i met you went a little something like this:i was playing alone in the snow and you noticed i was too. you came by me and asked me if i wanted to play, i said sure. we played until it got dark and someone else was playing with us too, but he left early; me and you kept going. then it was time to go and you said "i'll see you tomorrow" i said, "sure" smiled and left. everyday after that you'd come over and we'd go out and play... the memories i have with you at that playground are countless. our friends would move but you were always there because our parents didn't seem to want to move. until one day you left me. but the best part is that you came back, and i'm glad you did because we got re-live some memories at that playground. the last time and the first time we were together was at that playground. i love you dimitris and i hope you hear me every night ?

Dimitris, you were such a loving and caring kid. I can't believe this. I still remember the first day I walked into theatre and Mr.Rogers had us introduce ourselves to each other and I knew I wanted to introduce myself to you because you were so cute and had the sweetest smile. I talked to you for about 3 minutes that day,and I instantly fell in love with you,with the way you walk,with the way you smile,with the way you laugh, with the way you would always come to class playing your ipod and singing, the way you humped your desk that one day and it was hilarious, the way you were always there when I needed someone,the way you would come to school "sleepy" and write your amazing raps, the way you were an amazing actor, the way you could walk in the room and everything instantly got better, the list goes on and on. I love you Dimitris and if there was one thing,ONE THING I could've done before you left this Earth,I would've snuck out to chill with you that one night. I never really got a proper good-bye,but I was thinking, this isn't "good-bye",it's a see you soon. Don't think I'm not excited to see you again one day and give you a big hug,because I sure am! I loved your bear hugs in the morning (: I love you D and I hope you enjoy my bracelet I decided to give you today. Take good care of it until I see you again.Never forgotten & always loved,I love you Dimitris Zayas!-Samantha Lynn Mutter

Dimitris I will never forget when I walked into class on the first day of freshman year and saw your beautiful face. I knew from that day forward I would fall in love with you. And I did, we became close last year through theatre class. Mr.Rogers' theatre one class period one was the best class of my life, and you made it. I know that I can go to you for anything and that will never stop. You are my inspiration to do everything the way it should be done: the correct way, my way, our way. You are a very talented guy in theatre and in lacrosse, no matter what you did you always started and finished the task to the best of your ability. You are my heart

Dimitris... I remember last year in theatre when I was practicing a scene outside the classroom, you peeked your head out the door and said "Sarah, I need to tell you something," and then just went back inside the classroom. You did that like... three times. Another time, we were doing and improv, and I had to come at you with an ax, and you screamed, "AHHHHHH!!! AN INDIAN!!!" I laughed so hard I peed myself. :) I miss you my darling angel... Rest in peace.

From the moment I laid eyes on you I loved you... You were a tiny little boy when you and mommy came to live with me, only a few years old, always smiling... I loved you even when you kept waking me up at 6 in the morning every morning, asking me to put your favorite Disney movie in the VCR... "The three Caballeros"..... I used to know the entire thing by heart! I must have watched it playing over 1000 times! I know you probably watched it three times that amount! I would catch you climbing on the kitchen counter to get the cookies from the cabinet... and you 'd say, "Don't tell mommy"... and I would just smile, get you off the counter, kiss you and give you 2 cookies.... Now, you are gone, and it hurts, but I heard your voice just a few days ago when you called me to wish me happy birthday and told me to go party and that you love me.... I miss you baby boy more than words can say!

i met Dimitris when he was in 5th grade. i just moved to the Elms, the same complex he lived in. I wanted to make friends in this new neighborhood. Few days passed by and i really wanted to meet this kid who was playing outside. One thing lead to another and we started playing outside everyday! However, everyday was a struggle for us, we always looked for something to do. Than came nick. With Nick, we found new things to do, we played Manhunt, Tag, Ghost of the graveyard, Wolves, almost any child games you can think of! i remember when you were still living in the elms we celebrated you're birthday at lazerquest. I remember the sound of your laughter everyday, i remember the times we geek out, i remember the times we acted silly, i remember the days we hung out last summer. i remember your bear hugs. Every single time we hung out, is my favorable memories with you.
