I had the honor of working with Lela for several years at CSC. She was always such a help and always so much fun to be around! I am so sorry to hear of her passing. We hadn't been in touch since the spring. My thoughts are with her family.

Lela came into my life for a short time. But her memory will always stay. I knew her as a intelligent, loving, caring lady with a razor-sharp sense of humor. The stars will be a little brighter because she there now. Lela; you will always be remembered. I hope you soar in beauty, love and peace. Theresa Scott

Hey Punk, It has been so hard accepting that you won't be calling to come over and spend the weekend, or exchanging views on different Big Fish games, or drinking a beer together...I miss you so much it is difficult to contain my sadness in silence; sometimes I feel like bellowing at the sky for an answer as to why you had to go...but then I hear you saying to me 'hey, I told you I would go first, so hang in there we will see one another in due time; meanwhile, I'm causing max mischief up here!' I hope Lynn, your mom, Tom, Marsh and Boonie all helping you 'settle in'. I know your soul yearned for them and now you are with them. I found a home for the pugs (or as Rose calls them the 'poogs') TOGETHER...the best home possible...your beloved niece, Brandy, eagerly offered to take them when she found out I was searching for a good home where I was sure they would never be separated. I shipped them and it seems everyone is happy with the arrangement, a real lovefest! Hey, remember when you were in the hospital and the nurse heard me say "good night punk" and she got upset 'cause she thought I was being rude to you...she didn't know it was short for 'punkinhead' we both got a good chuckle out of that. Sometimes I think you are hanging around when the stained glass in my bathroom starts moving for no reason, or when your cap falls on my head from a stable location...I think you did it 'cause I know how much you hated it when I would grab your cap and whack you with it...who can I play with now Joglux?

Laughing together...I have been sitting here trying to think of a specific memory to share(I'm sure at some point one or several will come to mind!) but all I can think of is laughter in general. Most of the things we laughed about wouldn't make sense now anyway or would offend someone so maybe it's best to keep it on general terms! Even up until the last week of her life, even in the midst of all of the ugliness, we laughed and joked and could still find the humor in life and all of it's craziness. I cherished that about Lela and will do my best to keep the sarcasm and random silliness alive! I love you Lela and will never forget the joy and fun that you brought into our hearts and lives...

RIP Lela, my deepest condolences to your beloved friend Janine and your family. Although we never met in person (we worked together and talked frequently), Lela's sense of humor and awesome personality were very apparent in our phone calls and IM chats. She will be missed. Peace, prayers and blessings
