I can't believe you are gone! I can recall many of nights pulling in my driveway to find you laid up under a car, covered in grease... rolling out from under with a huge smile... no matter how much of a pain in the butt the car was being. You listened to me cry and vent many of nights and for that I am so very grateful. You were always good to my family and !! You were a part of our family and forever will be. You are missed by so many! I remember how proud and excited you were to share the video of Faith opening her Christmas present from you. You adored her! We will all miss you so much! Keep shining down on us Danielle Beckley

#2: Death Is Nothing At All By Harry Scott-Holland Death is nothing at all. It does not count. I have only slipped away into the next room. Nothing has happened. Everything remains exactly as it was. I am I, and you are you, and the old life that we lived so fondly together is untouched, unchanged. Whatever we were to each other, that we are still. Call me by the old familiar name. Speak of me in the easy way which you always used. Put no difference into your tone. Wear no forced air of solemnity or sorrow. Laugh as we always laughed at the little jokes that we enjoyed together. Play, smile, think of me, pray for me. Let my name be ever the household word that it always was. Let it be spoken without an effort, without the ghost of a shadow upon it. Life means all that it ever meant. It is the same as it ever was. There is absolute and unbroken continuity. What is this death but a negligible accident? Why should I be out of mind because I am out of sight? I am but waiting for you, for an interval, somewhere very near, just round the corner. All is well. Nothing is hurt; nothing is lost. One brief moment and all will be as it was before. How we shall laugh at the trouble of parting when we meet again!
