I can't think of George without smiling. I can't think of George without laughing. My earliest childhood memory, George is part of it. Working, fishing, hunting, metal detecting, farming or just hanging out, George brought a certain adventure to the experience. Ok, one story; George and I decided not to come home at thanksgiving from our hunting trip one year, on thanksgiving day all we had in camp was a dead squirrel a bag of flour and a little milk, so we made something that resembled gravy and cooked the squirrel, one of the best thanksgivings ever. Although our hearts are broken, remember, this separation is temporary, our heavenly home is eternal. Father, comfort the family during this time, and thank you Father for blessing us with the time we had with George. God Bless

So many memories of Uncle George. He was always the jokester in the family. He was the last of my Daddy's siblings. It's so sad that they are all gone now. Melvin Heflin, you are the patriarch of the Heflins now. Debi, I really enjoyed spending the afternoon with you and reminiscing about old times. Just know that George loved you so much for being there for him during his last final years. You will be rewarded for that someday. I love you and you know if you need anything, please call me. RIP Uncle George.
