May you be at peace and rest dad. I'm truly sorry for always letting you down throughout life and although you probably thought that I never listened or paid attention to the many words of wisdom you'd share to me. Such as I've only got one shot at life and to not screw it up. And yes your scolding of me telling me that I had all of my priorities in life F'ed up you were truthful and honest and I should have wised up many years ago. I did listen and do regret not following through on your words that haunt me daily for not only failing you and mom throughout life but let my ownself down as well and will never forgive myself for all of my failures throughout my life and the many disappointments I put you and mom through. My sincerest apologies to both of you. 🙏🌹 RIP Dad may you be finally at rest you've traveled a long hard journey throughout your life. 🌹
