My Momma Ann. The person I truly loved and adored. You adopted me into your heart over 15 years ago and became a beloved Grandma to Malai (Lai Lai). I truly appreciate Elaine and Dale for sharing you and Dad with us. I will never forget the wonderful times we shared. Your star is so brilliantly bright that it will continue to shine in the eyes of your loved ones. I will never say goodbye or let Malai forget you! Rest in paradise sweet Momma Ann! ❤️☹️

'When Love is pure, it calls you family'- That is what Mom Lacy gave to me. A pure love that made me feel like family. While she will be missed, I am assured that from her new home in glory she will continue to be a bright light of pure love and the quiet spirit in the room. Her loving memories will keep her alive and fresh in my heart always! A great Mom and Friend!

I send my condolences and prayers my cousin's Dale, RaeRaeL, your families and my Aunt Ann's sister's. May the peace of God comfort us. Here are just a few memories of my Aunt Ann ❤️Excellent CookAll of the Lewis Sister can cook. Aunt Ann would not only cook good food but she would always come to you with food in her hand and say "here taste this" Yes, I had many samples out of Aunt Ann's hands and it tasted better than eating from a plate. ❤️🙌🙌❤️ LOST AGAIN I already knew Not to allow Aunt Ann to give me directions in Maryland, because she had no sense of direction. She convinced me twice to take a short cut and TWICE we got lost. It was the most hilarious thing to hear her blame me after she got us lost. ❤️😂❤️ Tutti-frutti Aunt Ann WON TWO BATTLES of breast cancer. During her 1st battle, I shaved my head to be bald with her as she started losing her hair. She purchased her 1st wig and decided to surprise me at the door as I came to visit her. She swings the door open and says "how your like me know" Immediately, I started singing Whop bop b-luma b-lop bam bom Tutti frutti, aw rooty Tutti frutti, woo Tutti frutti, aw rooty Tutti frutti, aw rooty Tutti frutti, aw rooty Tutti frutti, aw rooty A wop bop b-luma b-lop bam bom by Little Richard. Aunt Ann and I laughed so hard and she never wore that wig again. From that day just to have a good laugh I would sing that song when she wore her wigs. 😊❤️❤️

 Trouble Maker:Aunt Ann would sit beside me during special events like parties, church, and even funerals. She would wait until the quiet moment of a service and do something silly to me to get me to burst out laughing. Everyone would turn around looking at us. She would keep a straight face and point to me while I'm trying to stop laughing. ❤️😂❤️ True Worshipper Aunt Ann was a true worshipper. I'd watch her sing and just GO IN giving God glory. Seeing her cry made me cry and worship God right along with her. She loved serving God and she loved serving God's people. ❤️🙏❤️ Mooning I loved my weekend stays to with Uncle Al and Aunt Ann. It was always a weekend filled with laughs, good food and just being together. As I'm backing out of the driveway to go home Aunt Ann yells Hey Lee Lee wait...She moons me and run back in the house laughing. After the third time getting mooned as I was leaving. I blew my horn until she came back out side and a gave her a FULL MOON it was probably more like an Eclipse. 🌑🌒🌓🌔🌕 She stopped mooning me after me after that one. ❤️🙏❤️🙏❤️🙏❤️🙏 Aunt Ann in your true fashion you have me crying from losing you and immediately cracking up laughing from our many moments together . I'm going to LOVE and MISS YOU FOREVER. ❤️❤� 😭

Ann will be truly missed by me. I will miss her out of the blue phone calls to me, always so cheerful even though she may be down. She was a very special friend even after we both moved miles apart. She will always hold a very special place in my heart. She's with the love of her life now, smiling down on us all. Rest in peace, Ann, knowing you are loved. Rae, Dale, and family, my deepest condolences.

Aunt Ann: such a special lady, full of love, laughter, jokes, & hospitality with some good food. You left us too soon Auntie! Your light shines so bright, when you walked into a room, (especially church) everyone knows you there because you hugging and greeting them. I know you are enjoying your new mansion in heaven, & all those who have gone before you. But I miss you so very much that it hurts, I miss our talks, our rode trips for ministry, our lunches, laughs & your love, you always had my back, you were a vital part of my life. 😊 But you gain your wings, crown & robe, glory to the most Highest! I know that you are happy & with that I will have peace. Love you with everything. Mel ❤️

My family was truly blessed during the 3 years we lived next door to Ann. She was not just a neighbor she became a good friend. She gladly watched my son when my husband and I needed a break. And she always said yes when I asked. She attended bible study with me. She gave my family so many homemade cookies now when my son sees a homemade cookie he says "Ms. Ann". She was such a sweet, warm, loving person and it breaks my heart that she's gone. We love you Ms. Ann and we miss you!
