Sending Prayers to the Payne family! Kendall was a special person to me. I first met her thirty years ago when I came to work at Payne Trucking. I loved her smile and the talks we had. It was a pleasure watching her grow up. She will be missed by everyone.

Kendall – you were the most wonderful, and weird, dazzlingly brilliant, refreshingly authentic, and effortlessly effervescent person. I loved you and I love who I was when I was with you. We spoke in a different language from everyone else, and instantly our friendship felt star-crossed. When I first met you, we swapped notebooks and made each other weird doodles and scribed deeply philosophical and ridiculous passages to each other. We were old souls in young bodies. We wrote love letters, and decorated our crushes bikes, and swam in the river. We got home late, but didn't want the night to be over, so we painted and danced in our pajamas until the morning. We took photos wearing fur coats, and fake glasses, with fake cups of coffee (before we liked coffee) to look cool and mature. (This is what college kids do, right?) We rode bikes and stopped to take pictures of nature, and architecture, and funny things we saw. We made gingerbread houses and celebrated our own Christmas. We dressed up to extremes and listened to 90's playlists and that was always even more fun than whatever we did when we were out. We sang way too amazingly for the general public to appreciate (that's on them!) You were such a good listener, so intuitive, and the most fun person in any room ... and we had our share of people filled rooms in our day! You instantly became one of my nearest and dearests and you vibrated on a different level. You were deep, and sensitive, and I will think of you, every season, every day. Because it was those small moments you most made feel special and wonderful. You are a cherished friend and my thoughts are with your family and many friends during this indescribably painful time. Forever loving you KKP. Until we meet again, my dear. 🥰
