I just want to say that Dad was a wonderful father to his 6 children, he made sure that we were loved and provided for. If he thought you needed something he would do his best to help you get it or find it for you. He was a loving Grandfather to his grandchildren and Great grandchildren. We never did with out. I am thankful that he is in a better place with out pain, but what he would like for you to know about him now it that he is in heaven, and you can one day see him again, by accepting the gift that God gave us, his son Jesus Christ who died for our sin and accept that. John 3:16 For God so loved the world he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believe in him should not perish but, have everlasting life. All we have to is believe in this and accept the gift of God. I know that I will see him again because I accepted that gift from God, I pray that you will accept him too.

My daddy was such an amazing man! It is so hard to say goodbye and know I will not be able to hug him talk to him or play cards with him anymore! I am sad because my kids wont have their pappaw with them! I do have peace knowing one day I WILL see him again! He knew the Lord as his personal savior! I cherish all the wonderful memories through the years! He loved his family and loved all the good times we would share on the holidays and cookouts(that we had ALL the time!) I had the pleasure of sitting with him on Sunday and I sat by his side and we had a heart to heart talk. He didnt say anything he opened his big blue eyes and looked into mine and I know he heard me! I love him soooo much and I know he is in a better place with no more pain and no suffering! I am selfish and want him back but I know he is watching me and looking down on us from above and will be my guardian angel! I am trying to stay strong for momma....we ALL will take care of her! Thanks for being the best daddy in the world! I LOVE YOU DADDY!!
