4 years ago today you left us mom. My heart still hurts and I miss the sound of your voice so very much. I miss everything....the smell of your perfume, your laugh, your cooking, running errands together, going to lunch, the long talks, your encouragement and last but not least putting Thanksgiving dinner on together. I love you mom and look forward to being with you again. Xxoo

It has been almost two months since you left mom. My heart still hurts and I miss you more than words can explain. My world had been forever changed. I pray you are at peace now and the pain you went through is a distant memory. I was blessed to be able to spend the last several years with you. I will always remember the road trips, hockey games, shopping and lunches. I strive to be the elegant classy lady you were. Until we see each other again...xxooo I love and miss you.

Everyone's with her today... whether its in thoughts, prayers, or beside her... she is forever loved and remembered as a great women... ?My grandma was a women who I always considered in my mind ever since I was a little girl as women who acted very "lady like" :)... When I was younger I was a bit of a tom boy and ever time I saw my grandma I would get told that burping or farting was not very "Lady like" Today I can say that she helped make me the lovely lady I am today. She has affected my life in so many ways... When I have a daughter of my own that is something I will pass on to her from my grandma is how to act like a proper lady... One thing I always told her was that I have her legs....While my grandma was going through chemo I told her I would donate my hair for her so she could have a wig... and plus it would already be blonde. But she had told it was very nice of me to offer it to her but real wigs are to hard to maintain. But I had always still planned on donating it for her but allowing another person or child with cancer to receive my hair..... After my grandma passed I cut of 10 inches of my hair in honor of her.She will be greatly missed by all of her friends and family. I loved her very much and I will see her again sometime..... To the family of Mary L Schebell, I am so sorry about the passing of your mother. I am so happy that I got the opportunity to meet her and serve as her Angel. Your mother had great courage and strength all through her suffering and you as her children shall be proud. She was very uplifting and had plenty of love to share with everyone. Now she will be our Angel as we grow closer to each other. Love you guys. Your Visiting Angel Gail Dickson.

Mom I can not thank you enough for being like the mom I never had. For taking me and loving me for me and not someone you wanted me to be. You accepted me and my daughter when I married your son and accepted her as your very own granddaughter. You have been the most wonderful mother in law a woman could ever want. I cherished every moment we spent together. The laughter, the tears, the trips to the park and bowling,,The kids and I are not saying good bye to you on Sunday we are saying "See you later" because we will one day be together with you again. God bless you and take care of Jamie and Daniel and tell them mommy and daddy miss them and love them so much.. T hanks for not only being my mother in law but my dear sweet friend.. Love you mom!!
